WASHLET B200

New Introductory Model Offers Remote Control and Additional Features

(Morrow, GA) February 4, 2014 — The Washlet B200 joins TOTO's Washlet B100 as the newest introductory model, at a price point that is perfect for those eager to start enjoying this world-famous product line.

Washlet B200 with Remote Control

After any bathroom break, the ergonomically contoured Washlet B200 uses warm aerated water to cleanse and warm air to dry. Activated by a simple touch of its new white remote control unit, you control the temperature and pressure of the soothing warm aerated water, self-cleaning dual-action spray, streamlined wand, and heated seat. New to the B200 are a warm-air dryer and built-in air deodorizing system, both of which you control from its new easy-to-read remote.

This new elongated unit is available in Cotton and Sedona Beige colors. Like the Washlet B100, its electrical cord and flexible water hose are located at the back of the unit, enabling you to plug it into a GFCI electrical outlet on either the right or left side of the toilet.

Like the other Washlets in TOTO's world-famous line, the new Washlet B200's People-First Innovations make the pursuit of personal cleanliness better in every way.

High-resolution digital photographs of the Washlet B200 are available for download from TOTO's Online Press Room or immediately upon request.
